Dull Olson Weekes Architects and Bainbridge have collaborated to design the Warm Springs Tribal Credit Enterprise, a new financial services resource on the Warm Springs Reservation in north central Oregon.

The two firms worked together on programming, space planning and interior architecture of the 8,000-square-foot building, which grew out of a small corner of the existing administration building.

The project is expected to be completed in November.

The Dull Olson Weekes team includes principal Steve Olson, project manager and architect Steve Winkle, designer Jeff Johansen and Mathew Braun. Andrea Bainbridge did the interiors and space planning. M. Marino Consulting was the project manager. Lori Fuentes and Bridget Culpus were the client team. The contractor was Woodburn Construction.
